School Advisors Find Out Their Role in Community

The Torrance Educational Advisory Committee and the Torrance Unified School District were founded on the theory that the schools should belong to the people of the community.

That was what Mrs. Grace Wright, member of the school board since Torrance became a separate district in 1947, told members of the TEAC at its Monday noon meeting at the Torrance YWCA.

The group heard about its own history and organization during the 11 years of its existence.

One of the leaders in setting up a separate district in Torrance, Mrs. Wright said one of the main reasons she and others sought the change was because of a feeling that the Torrance schools did not belong to the local people.

One of the first aims of the first Torrance Board of Education was to pick a superintendent who could make the schools an important part of the community, she said. For this reason, the board endorsed Superintendent J. H. Hull's plan for Torrance Educational Advisory Committee, she declared.

"You are the telephone" between the school board and the community, Superintendent Hull declared. "You are doing this for your children — not for the school board or the superintendent."

Also taking part in the panel discussion were Joseph G. Arnold and Walter Garrabrandt, members of the school board.

Christmas music was furnished by members of the Steele School orchestra and chorus, directed by Jerry Andrews and Philip Korman.

The purpose of education, the TEAC is designed to provide two-way communications, School Board President Clinton Cooke told the group.

Toy Admission at Race Track

Christmas spirit reigns this Sunday at Gardena Stadium as the management cooperates with the Marine Corps' annual Toys for Tots campaign.

Persons bringing new toys or those in good condition for distribution to underprivileged children will be admitted free to the weekly Jalopy Derby. Marines will be posted at entrances on Western Ave. and 139th St., where receptacles have been placed for collection of toys.

Faculty Whips Student Team

Despite a few aching backs and skinned knees, Torrance Elementary School faculty grid-ders managed to defeat the students in a "bowl game" climaxing the school's noon touch football competition.

The faculty won, 40-14, thus gaining revenge for an 18-6 loss to the students in 1957. During the fall, nearly 80 per cent of the boys at the school took part in the touch football leagues. Members of the student all-star team which faced the faculty were picked by vote of their teammates.
